The several inventions above are independent and distinct, each from the other, as they have acquired a separate status in the art as a separate subject for inventive effort, require independent searches and are separately classified. The active ingredients of, the above groups will fall into any number of subclasses depending upon the specific active material.

Further, all the claims read on a multitude of compounds which would require many fields of search that would be any undue burden to the examiner. Therefore, restriction for examination purposes is proper.
